I learnt that just my little family was the very most important thing. We needed each other every day and it was so good to prioritise our happiness. We didn't need a massive home - just a "can do attitude"

Over

When the fine mesh between me and the world dissolves, I'll look at my daughter's face not a screen, look at my daughter's face lit by the afternoon sun of Leith.

I'll put a cup of tea in her hand and feel the warmth of a log in her grate, her shoulders within my arms.

- online creative writing + art classes.
Something I am grateful for - Sheffield's parks Something I have learnt - Hillsborough library building is 100 years old. I thought it was

A significant moment - finishing Elton John's autobiography.
